

CALIBRATED DIVIDEND GROWTH FUND

SEEKING EQUITY UPSIDE AND A SMOOTHER RIDE

HIGH-QUALITY UNIVERSE

Companies with consistent dividend growth are often market leaders with stable business models, strong balance sheets, and management teams committed to shareholders.

LOWER RISK PROFILE

Focusing on U.S. companies that have consistently grown their dividends often provides investors with an equity portfolio that has a lower risk profile than the broader market.

GROWTH AND RISING INCOME

A portfolio of consistent dividend growers may provide investors with long-term growth and rising income. Many of these companies have grown their dividends much faster than inflation.

[†]S&P Quality Rankings System has attempted to reflect the long-term growth and stability of a company's earnings and dividends. The rankings are generated using a computerized system based on a company's per-share earnings and dividends record across the most recent 10 years. The system focuses on earnings and dividend performance, and does not reflect all of the factors that may bear on the quality of a company. Basic scores are computed for earnings and dividends, and then adjusted by a set of predetermined modifiers for changes in the rate of growth, stability over long periods, and cyclicity. Adjusted scores are then combined to produce a final ranking. The Quality Ranking Scale is as follows: A+ Highest, A High, A- Above Average, B+ Average, B Below Average, B- Lower, C Lowest, D In Reorganization, LIQ Liquidation. A Note about Risk: The value of investments in equity securities will fluctuate in response to general economic conditions and to changes in the prospects of particular companies, including market, liquidity, currency, and political risks. Mid-cap company stocks tend to be more volatile and may be less liquid than large-cap company stocks. Mid-cap companies typically experience a higher risk of failure than large-cap companies. However, larger companies may be unable to respond quickly to certain market developments and may have slower rates of growth compared with smaller successful companies. A company's dividend payments may vary over time, and there is no guarantee that a company will pay a dividend at all. These factors can adversely affect Fund performance.

The S&P 500[®] Index is widely regarded as the standard for measuring large-cap U.S. stock market performance.

¹Dividend Growers are defined as companies in the S&P 500 Index or S&P 400 Index who have paid a dividend and increased their yearly dividend payout for 10 consecutive years. Indices are unmanaged and not available for direct investment. Dividends are not guaranteed and may be increased, decreased, or suspended altogether at the discretion of the issuing company.

²Morningstar Large Blend Category Average: Large-blend portfolios are fairly representative of the overall U.S. stock market in size, growth rates, and price. Stocks in the top 70% of the capitalization of the U.S. equity market are defined as large cap. The blend style is assigned to portfolios where neither growth nor value characteristics predominate. These portfolios tend to invest across the spectrum of U.S. industries, and owing to their broad exposure, the portfolios' returns are often similar to those of the S&P 500 Index.

³Gross expense ratio for Class F is 0.80%. The net expense ratio for Class F takes into account a contractual fee waiver agreement currently scheduled to remain in place through 03/31/2020 of the Fund's 0.10% Rule 12b-1 fee. For periods when fees or expenses were waived and/or reimbursed, the share class benefited by not bearing such expenses. Without such waivers, performance would have been lower.

Indices are unmanaged, do not reflect the deduction of fees or expenses, and are not available for direct investment.

Standard deviation: A statistical measurement of the range of a fund's total returns. In general, a higher standard deviation means greater volatility.
